

CALIFORNIA HOMES

The Magazine of Architecture
The Arts & Distinctive Design

TYLER FLORENCE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 25

Now, Tyler Florence has packed up his knives and his New York lifestyle and created a home for himself and his family in Northern California's Mill Valley. This charming, sophisticated and friendly small town seems the perfect place for his new retail boutique, The Shop.

The Shop has brought great delight to both locals and tourists with the well-edited array all of his favorite items: appliances, tabletop, cookware, linens, knives, spices, books and much, much more. We sat down with the Visionary himself to get the lowdown on some of his favorite pieces from his new Shop.

LEFT As Tyler mentions, a good chef's knife is the most versatile and easiest way to start cooking like a pro. Also shown here is Tyler's favorite olive oil that you can find stocked in his Shop.

CH You have said many times that McEvoy Olive Oil is a product you love to use in your cooking, and we've noticed many shelves stocked with it; why so?

TF McEvoy Olive Oil is a local Northern California product and it's as good as any I've ever tried. Its extra virgin olive oils are made in a Tuscan style with the olives grown, harvested, milled and blended right on the ranch. The oils are rich, soft and full of beautiful flavor.